

Fee: $350

Please return this contract with payment mailed in full prior to the event.

Payment can be made by check, and written to: Jason Kollum

After this contract is signed and returned, if this event is cancelled completely, the Performer would keep the retainer fee and no other amount would be owed. In the event that rain cancels the event after the performer has already arrived, full payment is due.

Should the Performer get sick, injured, be involved in a serious accident, be stuck in unusual or unsafe traffic conditions, or experience problems with his vehicle that would make driving the vehicle unsafe or impossible, and the Performer is unable to make the performance, the venue will be notified immediately to inquire about an attempt to reschedule. If rescheduling is not an option, or is not desired, no payment amount will be owed to the Performer or, if applicable, the retainer fee would be returned to the venue. If the venue prefers a substitute entertainer, the Performer will attempt to find a replacement of a similar skill set, and at the same performance fee as the Performer, for the venue. If a substitute of a similar skill set cannot be found or is not available, with the venue's permission, the Performer will attempt to find a substitute entertainer of a different skill set. If that entertainer cannot be found, no payment will be owed by the venue to the Performer for the entertainment. If a family member of The Performer were to become ill or injured that is life-threatening, and the Performer is unable to make the performance, the same would apply. It is always recommended for the Performer and the venue to work together in these situations to determine the best solution for everyone.

Please sign/date both pages of this agreement.

Return to The Performer within 1 week.

Agreement may be returned through email or mail.
